Media Influence on Teenagers

The things that teenagers see on TV influence them to do what they do. Some TV shows influence some teenagers to smoke, drink, have sex, do drugs, fight, and kill, at a young age. And this is one reason why some teenage girls get pregnant. Sometimes, this happens because of a violation, but some of them are influenced by media, and have sex anyway to see how it feels. When they find out they are going to be parents, this is when they begin to regret their actions.

If people actually want to prevent this kind of thing from happening then they shouldn't allow teenagers to watch shows that have this kind of behavior. Adults may want to watch, but it influences them too, not just teenagers. Adults might be influenced to have sex with teenagers.

Some parents may watch TV with their children because they want to prevent this thing from happening. Some of them probably don't allow their children to have their own television. I wouldn't like it if my child said something inappropriate because of the influence on TV.

Teenagers are being influenced a lot by media. Since I don't want anything of this to happen to me or my little brothers and sister, starting today, I promise that as long as they live in the same house, I will watch out for them. I am more alert.
