

I think Barack Obama should be President because he is willing to help the people and make our country a better place to live. He is a Democrat, and the Democrats help people who are poor and illegal immigrants. He doesn't have a preference with people. He helps only those who are in need. I hate that other people don't want the Mexicans in the United States. The Mexicans do what the Americans don't want to do because we come to work without complaint.
