

I support Barack Obama because I think he will make changes in the United States. One of the things I like about him is the fact that he will help thousands of Hispanic people in this country to be legal. I like how he expresses himself. I think he will help people get cheap and less expensive health plans. I think he will make a big difference in the economy. I support him because he promises to bring the soldiers in back to our country. He promises to end the war in Iraq and Afghanistan. He and Joe Biden will make a really good President and Vice President of this nation. I like Democratic nominees because they are the ones who help us, and make change for this country. People like Obama are the ones who can make this country the best by helping restore our country's name. I think everyone should vote for Barack Obama.
