

I want Barack Obama to be President so he can bring the troops from Iraq back. John McCain wants to keep the troops there until 2011. Obama will bring them back earlier. He will be the first African-American President if he wins the election. I also want him to become President so there can be change because George Bush wants the war in Iraq to continue, and so does John McCain. And I want Bush to do something different because when the Iraqis come to invade again, the United States will know they will be ready to stop the invasion so it does not happen again. They have not found any of the heavy weaponry yet. I hope they do before Obama or McCain becomes President so they can bring the soldiers back. If I were 18 , I would vote for Obama, and I hope he wins. If he doesn't, it will be sad because there will not be change. McCain will do the same as George Bush.
