

I think Barack Obama should be President because he is a great man with a big heart, and he has great ideas about how to change the United States and make a better world. I think you should vote for Obama. And Hillary Clinton will help Obama change the world. My mom didn't believe that Obama would make it to the end. She thought that Hillary Clinton was going to win the Primary and Democratic Party nomination. If Obama becomes President, I will be happy because he will change the world. And I hope he will make the gas price go down. It is really expensive. And I hope he makes sure the sewers work to prevent flooding, tries to stop crime, and tries to make our system better.
