

I think Barack Obama should be President because he is thinking about helping many of the Hispanic people to become legal immigrants. And he will help bring the troops back from Iraq. He had a good childhood, living in Hawaii and playing basketball. And he has a family that is helping him with his goal to become President. He is receiving a lot of help from Hillary Clinton and many of the people of America. Some people say that John McCain is like President George W. Bush who will continue to make war. I think Obama is going to win.
