

Do you know about computers and history? Well, I just know a little, but it will help you. Now that I'm thinking about this, it has two meanings. It could be how computers help you know or search for history or how computers made history. I'm going to tell you about both.

Computers help you learn many things like for example right now, I am going to log onto the Internet to see what year the computer was invented. Have you had a day your teacher asked you to go and research about any type of history? Well, I have and not everything you look for is going to be in a book. I've tried doing that, but I didn't find all the information I needed. Now for any little thing, I go to the Internet to look for what my teachers ask me or I would like to know .

Ok now that I have explained to you about how computers have helped us know about history now I will tell you how computers have made history. The computer was invented in 1936, and it has helped our society a lot. Now, our computers are a lot more sophisticated .
