

Computers have made history in life. We have been using them since 1936. Since that year, life has changed. It has become easier with the help of computers. They can be used for many things. For example, they are used for doing research, defining words, looking at maps, playing games, looking at images, and lots of other things.

The way life has become easier is for example, if you want to find the answer to a question, you can just simply look for it on the Internet. You can also find the definition of a word if you don't want to look for it in the dictionary. The best thing is that you can send e-mail or chat with people. Also, you can play games on your computer by going to the Web. You also can download music or movies through the Internet.

Another way computers have made history in life is that they are like human beings because they can get viruses. And when your computer gets a virus, you must get an antivirus so it can destroy the virus. You also need an antivirus if there are people trying to hack into your computer.
