

Homelessness

Homelessness is a big problem for us humans in our life. Homelessness makes many people lose all their valuables just for some addicting drug or for payments that the person can not pay. People can become one of these people just because of not saving money and getting money just for bets and alcohol products. We can stop this by doing many things to help and prevent this terrible happening. Pease keep reading for more information.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO TO STOP ALL THIS?

Would you help us stop homelessness in the U.S.A.?

555-555-5555

HOMELESSNESS

WHAT IS HOMELESSNESS?

WHAT CAUSES HOMELESSNESS?

HOW CAN WE STOP IT?

What is homelessness? This is an important question to consider. Many of us are quick to condemn people who are homeless for their personal failures and inadequacies. Some of us continue to believe that people choose to be homeless and prefer the lifestyle of the 'vagrant'. However, the experience of constant hunger, the enhanced risk of illness or injury, and the constant threat of violence make these assumptions questionable. Any attempt to address the problem of homelessness requires that we understand what it is. When people lose their housing, they often move in temporarily with friends or family, a practice known as "couch surfing". If the option of moving in with friends and/or family is not (or is no longer) available because of weak social capital or a lack of steady income, many people will stay in temporary emergency shelters, or end up absolutely homeless. Emergency shelters exist in medium- and large-sized urban centers, but are not generally available in rural areas and small towns.

This is an important question to consider. Many of us are quick to condemn people who are homeless for their personal failures and inadequacies. Some of us continue to believe that people choose to be homeless and prefer the lifestyle of the 'vagrant'. However, the experience of constant hunger, the enhanced risk of illness or injury, and the constant threat of violence make these assumptions questionable. Any attempt to address the problem of homelessness requires that we understand what it is. When people lose their housing, they often move in temporarily with friends or family, a practice known as "couch surfing". If the option of moving in with friends and/or family is not (or is no longer) available because of weak social capital or a lack of steady income, many people will stay in temporary emergency shelters, or end up absolutely homeless. Emergency shelters exist in medium- and large-sized urban centers, but are not generally available in rural areas and small towns.

What we can do is participate on getting food for homeless people and trying to build homes for them to live in. The homeless people might also need some blankets for the cold or need some clothes to keep warm. We can tell the people to try to save money and never bet a huge amount and do not drink because many lose money by just buying a lot of drugs. We could begin to build some homes so these people could try to sleep without worrying. They could also be taken to a doctor so they could not be suffering in the dark and kids could live a healthier life.

