

For many years, people have been using the computer for everyday life. We use computers for projects, images, entertainment, and maybe just to look up things. If you have a question and you need an answer, you know where to go.

The first computer ever made was in mid-20th century around 1940-1945. The first computers were about the size of a large room. When the computer was created, scientists decided to make a network so that people would be able to communicate and also be informed. And from then on out, people have been using the computer ever since.

As a student, I need all the help I can get, and the computer helps a whole lot. I don't know what I would do if I didn't have a computer. Things would be so unorganized and confusing.
