

Computers help me find history, pictures, websites, and information about something that's really important to you. It also gives information about the news, sports, activities, jobs and other things. History is when you want to find out about something that has happened in the past. For example, the first astronaut who walked on the moon, you can find the information about this person on the computer. You can find the history of things. The computer for me is a helping hand because you can find everything fast, not like before the invention of the computer where you had to use books to find history or information.

Nataly Ponce, 7th grade, Raul Yzaguirre School for Success