

Computers and History are important to me because in the future you could look up about history that happened in this present day or in the long past. And history is also good for school work. And it can be about very important places like the White House.

Computers have existed since 1936, and a lot of people look for history, life or other things on the computer these days.

Jorge Rangel, 7th grade, Raul Yzaguirre School For Success